Peel

We wish to thank and congratulate those parishioners in Peel who organised a very successful coffee morning last Friday in order to raise funds for the Parish. £571 was raised - a wonderful total. An enormous amount of hard work and generosity was behind that success. Thanks to all concerned.

A personal reflection from David Shirtliff, Warden of Thie dy Vea.

It was early in 2019 when an email dropped into my inbox, asking whether I was still interested in the concept of a Retreat House for the Island. Within minutes I was on the phone to the sender! And so for me the adventure began, and what an adventure it's been.

There's a real sense of pride in what we have achieved over the years. To set up a retreat house from nothing was a major undertaking, made more complicated by the disruption and delays brought by the COVID epidemic. But we got there, welcoming our first residential guests in May 2022.

Our aim all along was to offer a house of life, and that is what it has been. During these years guests have come for art, music, poetry, writing, walking and more. It has genuinely been a place of rest and refreshment for the journey, a place of good food, conversation and laughter. A place to seek direction for the future, or simply to allow space for the still small voice of God to be heard. All of this underpinned by our rhythm of prayer and the conviction that God is in the business of bringing new life, healing and hope. What stands out for me is the power that is to be found in the offer of a warm welcome, generous hospitality, and in having the time to treat each guest as the individual that they are. This has been so special and precious.

A recent comment in our visitor's book says it all,

'This house is beyond doubt one of the homeliest, spiritual places I have stayed. A home and family in all seasons.'

That sort of comment doesn't happen by accident. It is testimony to the hard work and dedication of so many people. It would be wrong to single out any particular individual, for this has been a team effort all along, drawing on the gifts, skills, experience and generosity of so many. Time and again we've been amazed by how often the right people seem to have been brought our way. God has been good.

Thank you for your interest in and support of Thie dy Vea. We hope and pray that this ministry has brought blessing to you. This particular adventure now draws to a close, but there are more in store

Please feel free to take this bulletin away with you.
